DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Governor, WILLIAM GOEBEL.
For Lieutenant Governor, J. C. W. BECKHAM.
For Attorney General, R. J. BRECKINRIDGE.
For Auditor, HENRY COUTLER.
For Treasurer, S. W. HAGER.
For Secretary of State, C. BRECK HILL.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction, HARRY McHENNEY.
For Commissioner of Agriculture, ION B. SALL.
For Railroad Commissioner, C. E. McHORD.
Representative, M. F. NORTH.

JUDGE TARVIN, the greatest notoriety seeker in Kentucky, addressed a letter to Chairman Young, of the State Central Committee, urging that the Courier-Journal be repudiated, declaring the opposition of the democratic organization to all that paper represents, and declaring that the democracy of Kentucky is not seeking, in this election, the aid, countenance or approval of any of the enemies of the Chicago platform of 1896. Then he adds: "As for me, I would prefer the election of the republican ticket to democratic success based upon any suggestion or suspicion of a repudiation of the Chicago platform of 1896, or any part of it." Tarvin has had an idea for a long time that on him was imposed the duty of carrying the world on his shoulders. He has the vice presidential bee in his bonnet and is really of the impression that he is made of the same material of old Allan Thurman and the other distinguished men of his line. Our people, or the few who heard him speak here several years ago, remember Tarvin with disgust. In his distributive then against Mr. Watterson and the Courier-Journal he swore straightout, saying, "G-d d-n the Courier-Journal," and other things almost as disgusting and profane. He has perhaps a personal grievance against that paper and his vapors will attract but little attention outside of the Louisville Dispatch's office.

The democratic party wants every vote it can get and if the Courier-Journal gives its support voluntarily as it does to the ticket, it will be worth many thousands of votes more than Tarvin will, who is smarting under the mortification induced by the failure of the convention to endorse him for the vice presidency. No democratic paper would publish his letter and he had to resort to republican sheets to air his grievances. Let him rave. Such men as he do no credit to any party.

HON. G. R. KELLER addresses an "open letter" to us in the last issue of his paper, the Carlisle Mercury, taking us to task for saying a good democrat like he has always been, oughtn't to sully his record by writling of the democratic convention like he does. We appreciate and reciprocate the kind feelings he expresses of us, but his effort to bring the ticket in to disrepute by charging all manner of fraud in its nomination, can have no other effect than to give aid and encouragement to the enemy he has fought for the last 30 or more years. Look how they copied his editorial and patted him on the back with a "bully boy." We are not personally aware of the doings of the late convention, but those who participated tell us that no more trickery was resorted to than usual and that in the matter of it one was as deep in the mud as the other was in the mire. Each candidate was playing for advantage and Goebel being smarter than the other two, won. That's seems to be all there is of it. So dear Keller, dry your tears, keep them for a deeper sorrow and do not leave the impression that they are being shed over spilled milk. You are too good a soldier to sulk. Fall in line with us and let us make the victory for the ticket the most signal in the history of the State.

At the meeting of the new democratic State Central and Executive committees at Frankfort Tuesday, many party leaders were present and they all brought cheering reports of the outlook. Percy Haley, of Frankfort, was elected secretary and a committee with Senator Blackburn at the head, was appointed to publish a campaign hand-book. The headquarters of the committee was changed from Lexington to Frankfort. Col. A. S. Berry, who Judge Tarvin says is no democrat, was on hand with a resolution to introduce providing that hereafter the precinct committeemen throughout the State should be selected by the voters of the party on general registration day, and by mass meetings where no registration is held, but he was barred from the meeting, on motion of Col. Jack China that none but the committee be allowed to be present.

Col. W. J. Bryan was presented at Cripple Creek, Col., with a loving cup made of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1.

THOUGH they seemed to have every thing greased, the republicans at Lexington didn't get the machine to work as rapidly and as smoothly as was predicted. After Chairman Barnett had called the convention to order at 2:15 P. M., Wednesday, Congressman Vincent Boreing was installed as temporary chairman and made a speech vigorously attacking Goebellism and predicting a republican victory this fall by 30,000. The various committees were then appointed and the convention adjourned till 8 P. M.

The Hambrick-Todd delegation from Louisville was given the cold shoulder and the Deboe-Taylor program was rushed through. James Breathitt, of Christian county, was made permanent chairman of the convention and Albert S. White, colored, of Louisville, was made permanent secretary.

The Garrard county contest was decided in favor of the regular delegates headed by Gen. Collier and Capt. Herndon and his bolters were thrown down.

It is said that all kinds of efforts were made to placate Gov. Bradley through Gen. Dan Collier, to whom the nomination for auditor or any other office was offered, provided he would get the governor to come and deliver a speech, but the general declined all overtures, saying, "Bradley won't be here, and I wouldn't have the nomination for governor from you. You fellows have been running this thing. You keep on running it."

Every thing went through like a flash yesterday morning. Auditor Stone and Judge Pratt, who also ran for the nomination for governor, moved the nomination of Gen. W. S. Taylor and it was made by acclamation. John Marshall, of Louisville, was unanimously nominated for lieutenant governor. Caleb Powers of Knox county, for secretary of State. Clifton J. Pratt received his reward in the shape of the nomination for attorney general over W. R. Ramsey, of Laurel, and Rev. John S. Sweeney, of Bourbon, was put up for auditor. Walter R. Day, of Breathitt, was made the nominee for treasurer, and John Burke, won from a big field for superintendent of public instruction.

Conductor John W. Throckmorton, of the L. & N., was nominated for commissioner of agriculture. His residence was not given, it simply being stated that he is from the State of Kentucky. His nomination is a further bid for L. & N. support, which would have been given anyway.

The platform denounces the Goebel bill and Goebellism and the McChord bill, endorses the National and State administrations, reaffirms the St. Louis platform, denounces trusts, takes a whack at the civil service and favors good roads.

The convention adjourned last night after doing like the mountain, laboring and bringing forth a mouse.

The ticket could not have been made weaker and there will never be any cry about the new election law used to defeat it. It will defeat itself. Goebel will be our next governor as sure as shot.

Senator E. C. Linney, of Louisville, who helped to down Gum Shoe Hunter, said out boldly at Lexington that he would vote for Goebel over Taylor, who is neither a credit nor strength to the party, while Goebel is a clean and able man.

THE Lexington Herald gushes as follows: "The Herald bids all a hearty welcome—a welcome as brothers to a brother's home; and we hope you will be so pleased as to come again and come often. You will always be welcome." A fellow feeling makes us wondrous hospitable. The home is the old log cabin and who than Col. Breckinridge has a better right to extend invitation?

EDITOR RICHARDSON, of the Glasgow Times, is passing under the rod to the sincere regret of his friends. Says his paper: "With three cases of fever in his family circle, anxiety and suspense have done their perfect work, leaving him utterly disabled, unfitted for, and unequal to, the demands of business affairs, however important."

TALKING about machines, was there ever such a one as that run by Deboe and Taylor? But what shall it profit these schemers except to become master of the Federal patronage? The Lexington ticket has no earthly chance to be elected and none of its supporters hardly are fool enough to believe it.

GOV. BRADLEY was too busy to mix with the Lexington crowd. He was very conspicuous by his absence and will be as conspicuous for not turning his hand to help the faction that has triumphed over him.

THE Louisville Post asks in scare head lines "Is Bryan back of Tarvin's letter?" Not on your life. Nobody is behind it but the man with the big head who wants to be Bryan's running mate.

A SIX MILLION colliu trust and a $12,000,000 granite trust are arranging to make it so expensive to die that we will have to live in spite of ourselves.

POLITICIANS AND POLITICS.

Gov. J. Hoge Tyler has formally announced his candidacy for United Senator from Virginia.

The Indianapolis News was sold at receiver's sale for $936,000 after lively bidding, to Editor Williams and Delavan Smith.

Gen. Rosser has reached Washington from Cuba. He says there is a wide spread sentiment on the island in favor of annexation.

McKinley is said to be working on a plan to submit to a vote of the people of Cuba the question of independence or annexation.

It is stated that on account of trouble in Guatemala, the United States may be called upon to establish a protectorate over that country.

It has been discovered that Goebel, the democratic nominee for governor of Kentucky, is a total abstainer. The end is in sight. He has as little hope of election as Cervera had of escape from Selley's guns.—Haltimore American

Pshaw, what's the use of prating about broken promises? If we bolted every delinquent subscriber who promised to deliver the goods and "has never returned," we wouldn't have any circulation at all.—Cynthiana Democrat.

Rev. S. E. Smith, of Owensboro, speaking for his race, says that 65,000 Negroes will not vote for Taylor for very many reasons. Rev. G. W. Bolling also says the Negro will not support Taylor unless he "clears up the mist."

To those bawling journalistic infants, the Lexington Herald, Owen News and Carlisle Mercury: Take Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and follow with Mellin's Food. Your little second-summer political "true inwardness" is out of whack.—Louisville Times.

Col. D. L. Moore, of Mercer, says: "I was for Gen. Hardin very cordially, but our county will be in line for Goebel, as I believe the democracy will be all over the State. Gen. Hardin was my guest after he returned from the convention and he has no idea of bolting."

Col. J. W. Miller, the Lancaster distiller, was at the Grand yesterday. He said: "I was for Hardin in the race for governor, but always take my medicine like a little man. If the republicans nominate Taylor Goebel will win handsily, but if they nominate Yerkes look out."—Cin. Enquirer.

W. H. Bright has been discharged as superintendent of the farm and garden at the Eastern Kentucky Insane Asylum because he had written a letter to Senator Goebel telling him that 30 asylum employes had been marched to the mass convention at Lexington and voted for Hardin.

The consensus of opinion of the leaders who met at Frankfort was that the entire democratic ticket would be elected by a majority of at least 20,000, and former Senator Blackburn says he is willing to go on record with the prediction of a majority ranging from 20,000 to 25,000, and he gives his reasons for that opinion.

John F. Hager, of Ashland, ex State railroad commissioner and one of the leading lawyers of the State, says: "I do not hear a chirp of discord in our part of the State against the democratic ticket, and I believe it will catch every democrat, silver and gold, in the Big Sandy country. Senator Goebel has always been popular up our way, and Eastern Kentucky having secured two of the best nominations on the ticket we are entirely satisfied."

The abuse that is heaped upon Goebel is too bitter and impleable to be trustworthy. In the end it will strengthen him. Meanwhile candid people will believe only that which is proved against him. We never yet knew a real leader who was not the object of vilification. From Jefferson to Tilden every great democrat has been stigmatized and denounced for all the crimes which could be conjured up by the imagination and malignity of his political adversaries. Mr. Goebel seems no exception to the rule, which only serves to show that he is a leader.—Courier Journal.

One result of the war with Spain has been to so advertise this country as to make it more attractive to foreign tourists. More wealthy and titled people from abroad are visiting the United States than ever before. Speaking of this, the New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch says: "Sir Richard and Lady Musgrave arrived in the metropolis to-day on the Britannic and will make a tour of the country. It seems about as fashionable abroad nowadays for our English cousins to visit us during the summer as it is for us to visit them."

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good" is often being verified. A little girl in Lewiston, Me., has been compelled to wear glasses on account of near-sightedness, or some other defect of vision. Recently she had a severe illness of scarlet fever, and it was feared she would lose her sight entirely. If not her life. Strange to say, she not only recovered from the fever, but it has been the means of restoring her eyes to perfect vision, and she has now discarded her glasses, seeing as well as any child of her age.

Many members of the Sac and Fox tribe of Indians in Iowa have refused to accept annuities because of the old Algonquin superstition that all their lands belong to the Great Spirit, and, as the annuities arise from the government sales of the lands, their acceptance of the proceeds would bar them from the "happy hunting grounds."

A Cincinnati judge recently gave a man ten days for stealing an eight-day clock. The thief had time to take time and then the judge gave him more time for taking time that did not belong to him. While he is serving his time in jail he will probably think he is not having any time at all.

ALTHOUGH he seemingly has little or no business, T. C. Ball makes about as much clear cash as anybody in town—amount invested considered. He tells us he has 21 tenants and scarcely ever loses a cent's rent. He wouldn't say how much his daily income is, but it must be considerable. In answer to our question "How did you make so much money," Tommy said: "By attending strictly to my own business, signing my name on notes for myself or anybody else and always having the money in pay for what I get, when I get it."

THE attention of the Commercial Club is called to the fact that the engineers of the Southern rail are at Crab Orchard Springs now, and that if the proper effort is made they may be induced to survey a line from Hurlin via Stanford. Messrs. J. S. Hocker and J. W. Hayden saw the engineers the other night and impressed upon them the fact that a direct line from Hurlin to Jellico would pass through Rowland and that the route is cheaper and more practical than that by Lancaster, because it would save two bridges over Dix River, one of them nearly as high and almost as long as High Bridge. We do not want to hog all the good things from Lancaster, though in the light for supremacy every man has to be for himself and trust to God Almighty to be for us all. A glance at the map will show that ours is the natural route and those who know say it is by far the cheapest that could be built. Let the Commercial Club act now or go into its hole.

WANTED good country hams. Beazley & Carter.

TEN boxes of Hrag soap just received at Warren & Shanks.

HIGHEST market price paid for fresh, yellow butter. Warren & Shank.

THE Stanford holders of stock in the Florence, Ala. First National Bank are being gladdened with a 3 per cent. dividend, the first they have received in 10 years.

SALE.—Mrs. Annie S. Lasley has bought of J. S. Hughes. Mrs. Fannie Green's property on Hustonville Avenue and will move to it if she can rent the place she lives at.

PEPPLES.—Of a general giving away of his system, Mr. William Pepples died Wednesday at the old home place, upon which he was born and raised, aged 75. His wife preceded him to the tomb 20 years or more ago. They never had any children. The burial occurred at Goshen yesterday.

FARM SOLD.—Free Silver Johnson has sold to J. R. Orndorff his farm of 130 acres on the Somerset pike for $4,000. Possession will be given Nov. 15. Mr. Orndorff merely bought it for an investment and will continue to pull the throttle of an engine, while Mr. Johnson is undecided as to his future.

THE town boundary will not be changed. Put that in your pipe and smoke it. At the next meeting Councilman H. P. Rout will move a reconsideration, which will be duly and properly seconded, a vote will be taken, there will be a tie and Mayor J. N. Menefee will untie it in favor of the boundary remaining as it is. That will end for the present the job and the "come nitters" will have to try another scheme to keep from paying their taxes.

MR. LOUIS LANDRAM, editor of the Lancaster Record, was here yesterday, returning from Henderson, where he attended the Press Association and read an excellent paper on his favorite hobby, "Should the Country Paper be Non Partisan?" taking of course the affirmative side. He tells us that the boys were having a fine time and that a great crowd of them went to Petoskey. Mr. Landram wasn't gone but three days, but what Judge M. D. Hughes, whom he left in charge of his office, did to him in that time was a plenty. He not only holsted the democratic ticket, but filled the paper with good democratic doctrine. Landram is a philosopher though, and when we told him about it, expressed no concern about the entire change of policy.

BARNES.—A note from Rev. George O. Barnes, 1731 Q. Street, N. W., Washington, to the editor, says in part: "Marie keeps boarders ('table'), and indulges a 'trembling hope' (the kind you have heard me describe, as saying me in '43) that she can 'make ends meet.' I have some fear that she 'feeds' too well to make money; but if we 'make a living' we will be glad. If she 'goes down' it will be with 'colours flying,' for she won't set a poor table—come what may. She has not been bred in 'blue-grass' ways, in vain. Meanwhile her guests—as nice a 15 as ever sat down in a 'boarding house'—rejoice and wonder, after long experience in other places where things were not so dainty, leaving their hostess to 'wonder' also—viz: as to whether she will come out even. I preach wherever a door opens; regularly, twice on Sunday; and oftener, if I have a chance; 'waiting patiently on the Lord' for more extended service.

A MANY SIDED MAN.—That is the kind Joe Severance, pastor of the Tullahoma, Tenn., Christian church, is with emphasis. He is here with his family spending the vacation with his mother, but he is not idle by any means. Last Sunday he preached at the Christian church, a sermon which many claim was the best they ever heard. During the week he acts as auctioneer for Severance & Sons, at which he equals a Bush or an English. He is a natural born genius and seems to have an intuitive knowledge of all kinds of machinery. Farmers seek him to repair their harvesting and other complicated machines, which he always sets right, and yesterday we called on him to fix a press that was out of shape. He pulled off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and soon had it in apple pie order. All of which takes us back to our original proposition that Joe Severance is a man of parts. He is both clever and accommodating besides, and as full of wit as an egg is of meat. May his bald head never grow gray.

THE old head that the Hon. Geo. M. Davison carries around with him may not be very pretty, but it is chuck full of schemes and resources that come to his aid when less resourceful men would throw up the sponge. We are led to these remarks by what was done here Monday. He found after feeling the pulse of the republicans that his scheme to instruct for Stone because he is a district man wouldn't work worth a cent, as according to A. G. Faulkner and other leading men of the party, Taylor had 10 to 1 over any other man in the county. Under the state of the case it was idle to talk of instructing for Stone, and Mr. Davison thought it would look too had to instruct for Taylor, so he laid awake all one night and evolved a scheme to have Mr. A. A. McKinney instructed for treasurer and then argue that it was not wise to instruct for other candidates, when a county had one of its own. The scheme worked like a charm, McKinney alone was instructed for and the boss was saved the humiliation of having the county instruct against his wishes.

THE sweetest social function of the season was that in honor of Misses Olive Woodson, of Kansas City, and Ollie Baldwin, of Richmond, given last evening by Miss Fannie Shanks at "The Oaks," the handsome country home of her brother, W. H. Shanks. There were some 75 guests present and they enjoyed every moment of the delectable hours. It was a "flower" party and little booklets with printed verses describing certain flowers, whose names were to be guessed, were given each guest. The one who answered the greatest number was given a prize, Miss Mary Logan winning the handsome bracelets and Samuel J. Embury, Jr., the silver match safe as first prizes. Unfortunately a solution of the whole thing was discovered and there were, of course, many correct answers and consequently a good deal of cutting for the prizes. The refreshments were delightful in themselves and superbly served and everything combined to make the evening memorable, including the sweet music made by the town band. Miss Shanks added greatly to her reputation as an entertainer and her charming guests added scores to their long list of friends here.
